

$750,000 Bond Issue For Greater Hospital Urged by Committee

Aggressive Plans for Improvements Decided Upon at Joint Conference of the Council's Plaza Committee and Hospital Ways and Means Committee.

MAYOR URGES ELECTION ON PLAZA AND HOSPITAL HELD AT THE SAME TIME

If It Is Impossible to Persuade Legislature to Pass on Plaza in Time, However, Woodward Says This Project Can Be Voted Upon at Later Date.

Aggressive plans for the improvement of Grady hospital, through the passage of bonds to the amount of $750,000—possibly a million dollar issue—for new buildings and improvements, were launched at a joint conference between the council's plaza committee and the hospital ways and means committee yesterday afternoon.

Resolutions, signed by Atlanta's general council, to authorize the issuance of bonds to the amount of $750,000 for the improvement of the hospital, were adopted. At the next meeting of council the first step toward getting the issue forth will be taken. Leading physicians interested in the project of Grady will begin work immediately to interest voters of the city.

It is the committee's educational campaign can be carried out in six weeks the hospital bonds will be submitted to the people at the election in June. Should the committee decide that the campaign cannot be carried out in such a short length of time the election will be deferred until August.

Wants Election at 5 P. M.—Mayor James G. Woodward took the position that the bond issue should be put on the plaza project alone, and both should be submitted to the people on their regular merits. The mayor indicated that he does not favor consolidating the issue to be voted in one lump sum.

"Let the issues stand on their respective merits," he told the committee. "Hold the elections at the same time. If we can't get the legislature to act on the plaza project, the hospital bonds may be voted on later. Plans, bonds could be submitted at a later date."

Mayor Woodward's attitude caused the committee to agree that the hospital bonds should be severed from the plaza project.

The mayor, however, gave his hearty endorsement to the plan for improving Grady. He said he did not say to what extent he will support the movement. Grady officials are satisfied that the mayor's help will materially aid the scheme.

For the first time since agreeing bonds for improvement of the hospital, W. B. Sumner, superintendent of Grady, outlined his plan for the expenditure of the $750,000 in bonds proposed for improvement.

Sumner outlined his plan for the expenditure of the $750,000 in bonds proposed for improvement. He said the plan included a new outdoor clinic, dispensary, lab, and other buildings.

SMITH IS ON THE HIS SERVICE FREE TO JAMES CONLEY

Family of His Client Unable to Furnish Funds for His Defense, Says Attorney for Negro Sweeper.

SMITH WILL PUSH PLEA FOR NEW CONLEY TRIAL

Even Though Judge Should Decline Frank New Trial, Extraordinary Motion Will Delay Execution Date.

Attorney William M. Smith, counsel for Jim Conley's defense, is furnishing his services to the negro with no expectation of financial remuneration. Ever since the earlier stages of Conley's participation in the famous Plaza mystery, Smith has not received a penny. This was brought out yesterday afternoon.

Smith was originally employed by Conley in the case, however, but because of the case, and because of the attorney's conception of legal ethics, he decided to continue his service.

He would have little to say regarding the disclosure when a Constitution reporter visited him in his office yesterday afternoon. He said he was not a lawyer, but a friend of the accused.

He also stated that he intended to continue in the case, although at a financial cost to himself. He said he was not a lawyer, but a friend of the accused.

BRITISH THRONE GREATLY SHAKEN BY ARMY AND NAVY

Parliament a Seething Calldron Over Alleged Actions of King and Army Aristocrats Against Democracy.

KING BEING ATTACKED WITH GREATEST VIGOR

Unless Premier Asquith Satisfactorily Explains He Will Face Great Danger From a Liberal Rebellion.

London, March 24.—Westminster continues to be a seething calldron over what the liberals now deem the "mutiny of the army aristocrats" against democratic government.

The fact has been established from all obtainable evidence that General Hogg and the other officers of the Third cavalry brigade demanded and refused to obey the orders of the king.

They would not be ordered to fight for Edward Carson's Ulster volunteers, and that these assurances were given by the king.

Before they left London yesterday the officers telegraphed to their brother officers in Ireland that they had found support from the famous Irish rebels.

On their arrival at Curragh camp today they were welcomed by a guard of honor and the arrival of the king's summons to the war office.

the state property upon which the governor's mansion site, at Peachtree and Cain streets, temporarily held up the work of street widening at that point Tuesday morning.

After a conference with the city attorney, however, when the plans were submitted, Governor Sloan approved the plan, in accordance with a legislative resolution of 1911, and the city officials to a reporter for an Atlanta afternoon paper the news had gone out that Governor Sloan would call out the militia to stop the street work.

This, the governor declared, was preposterous.

Governor Sloan gave out the following interview to The Constitution reporter:

"When I started from the mansion this morning, I saw, to my surprise, that the lot was taken up, and large trees had been cut down for several feet from the street line."

"There was no authority by law for such a course, and the resolution under which the work was being done only gave authority to the governor to grant easements for streets, etc., and no authority to appropriate the land."

Huge Wheel.

New officers were elected last night at the regular meeting of the Rotary club, held at the Hotel Amley.

The following men were named: Albert R. Adams, president; F. D. Porter, first vice president; R. L. Parnham, second vice president; L. D. Hicke, secretary; W. H. Snodgrass, assistant secretary; George W. Allen, sergeant-at-arms.

The following men were selected to fill expired terms on the board of directors: Henry W. Grady, H. W. Anderson, W. H. Snodgrass and H. H. Hastings.

The dinner was, perhaps, one of the most novel given in the organization's history. The banquet board was arranged in the shape of a huge wheel, the Rotary club symbol. It was presided over by Hubert W. Anderson.

The newly-elected officers will assume their duties on June 1.

DIDN'T MEAN TO KILL;
ONLY WANTED TO WARNMadame Caillaux Tells of Visit to the Office of Editor of Figaro.

Paris, March 24.—I never intended to kill M. Calmette; I wanted to give him warning.

This assertion was made by Mme. Caillaux today at her trial as the climax of her dramatic story of the shooting and a recital of the events preceding the killing of the editor of Figaro.

Mme. Caillaux's state of mind on the eventful day, her purchase of a revolver and the last act of the tragedy were set forth in detail by her today before the examining magistrate, Henri Bouchard, at the palace of justice.

Before going to the Figaro office, Mme. Caillaux had left this note for her husband, who, she feared, might commit an act of violence against M. Calmette.

"France and the republic need you. I do not want you to sacrifice yourself."

Cordially Greeted by Editor. The witness told of her cordial greeting by the editor when she reached the Figaro office.

"You don't know the object of my visit," she had said to the editor. "I only wanted to warn you."

"No," replied M. Calmette, "I am not in the least alarmed."

"I am not alarmed," she said, "but I am in a semi-obscurity facing the man who had nullified my husband's mission."

"I observed that you were in the office known to all," Mme. Caillaux said dramatically, "and I saw the revolver, and taking careful aim, fired."

"Yes, indeed," interrupted M. Calmette, "I observed that you were in the office known to all, and I saw the revolver, and taking careful aim, fired."

"But how do you explain the wound in my back?" M. Calmette asked.

"I do not know," she continued, "but I continued to fire without noticing," said the witness.

"Are you to suppose that I followed M. Calmette around in his efforts to escape?" asked the witness.

"To this Mme. Caillaux had nothing to say."

Her Nervous Excitement. Mme. Caillaux then told of her nervous excitement when she appeared in the courtroom, the consequent nervous excitement she suffered and the necessity of making a statement.

"I am not in the least alarmed," she said, "but I am in a semi-obscurity facing the man who had nullified my husband's mission."

WEATHER MAN SAYS
DAY TO OPEN FINE,
BUT CLOUDS LATER

Following is the weather forecast for Atlanta Wednesday:

The day will open fine and comparatively warm, with light southerly winds. The advance of a new disturbance over the Ohio valley, however, will cause increasing cloudiness Wednesday afternoon, with probably light rain and gusty southerly winds late in the afternoon or Wednesday night. The temperature will run somewhat higher, probably reaching 65 degrees during the middle of the day.

Woman Horribly Burned. Columbus, Ga., March 24.—(Special.) Mrs. Pauline Newman, aged 41, was horribly burned at her home in Phoenix City, Ala., this morning. She was sitting beside an open grate sewing, and it is supposed that her work caught fire. She was badly burned on her face, neck, arms and hands. Before the fire could be extinguished she was horribly burned from head to foot. She is still alive and conscious, but it is feared she will die.

Good Morning!

Towel Prices Tumble for Our 16th Annual Sale

HAVING held this sale every March for the past 15 years, prudent housekeepers have learned to look for it to replenish their towel supply.

The Savings Justify their action. On some towels, notably some broken lines of linen hucks, we have 75c and 85c towels at 59c. $1 and $1.25 towels at 69c.

On regular stock, however, the savings are less—chiefly 5c to 10c on towels ranging from 25c to 50c. For example:

25c towels, 19c
50c towels, 35c
60c towels, 49c

Our unrivaled position in the Linen business of Atlanta proves the lowness of our first prices.

Depends on first prices, you know, how really low reduced prices are.

All the towels are the same honest qualities on which we have established the biggest towel business in Georgia. All kinds of towels in the sale—linen, union linen, bath towels, plains and fancy towels.

BRYAN ADVISES NOLAN NOT TO GO TO MEXICO

Wires That Body of Son Can Not Be Exhumed Until After Five Years.

Washington, Ga., March 24.—(Special.) Dr. J. Q. Nolan, of this city, who has asked the state department at Washington to investigate the death of his son, Dr. Frank Nolan, at Tampico, Mexico, and who has considered going to Mexico himself to investigate, for several days has been receiving telegrams from Secretary Bryan advising against the journey. The message read:

"American consuls at Tampico report that body of son cannot be exhumed until expiration of five years. Advise strongly that you do not go to Mexico."

Message advices received here are to the effect that Dr. Nolan died March 4, after a brief illness. The father of the dead man desires a full investigation to determine the cause of his son's death. It also was desired to bring the body back here for burial.

The dead Georgian was a former Atlanta graduate of the Southern College of Physicians and Surgeons.

ROAD COMMISSIONERS PLAN ORGANIZATION

Cause of Good Roads Will Be Thoroughly Discussed at Meeting April 15.

The organization of the road commissioners of Georgia will be perfected at an important meeting to be held at the annual meeting of the Georgia Road Commission, which will be held at the New Georgia Hotel, April 15 and 16.

Various features of entertainment are being arranged for the occasion, and a luncheon at the Kimball house on the last day of the meeting will be the last of the Georgia road convention.

JUDGE SPEER'S OFFER REFUSED BY COMMITTEE

Washington, March 24.—Judge Emory Speer's statement that he would "not be unwilling" to accept retirement if the house judiciary committee withdrew charges against him are to be disregarded by the Web sub-committee, it was said today.

Judge Speer's statement, given out in Mecon last night, was:

"If the judiciary committee, in accordance with the charges against me, duty after considering all matter which has been submitted to it, withdraws the charges against me in a manner as public as they have been made, I will not be unwilling to accept retirement upon the same terms as those with which the committee has been dealing."

The Web sub-committee is considering the evidence taken in Georgia and will be ready to formulate conclusions to report to the entire committee for its guidance in reporting recommendations to the house on the proposed impeachment.

With that conception of the committee that retire in any way emanated from him and said he never had contemplated such action as a result of the impeachment charges.

His statement was called forth, after a long inquiry from Representative Adams concerning the retirement of Judge Speer.

Little Change Noted in Adair's Condition.

The condition of Green B. Adair, a prominent citizen of Atlanta, who has been critically ill for several days at his home on Highland avenue, showed very little change at an early hour this morning.

Postum for Mine

Many a man and woman with coffee troubles has found that Postum is a sure and pleasant way back to health.

A doctor writes:

"I have been using Postum for the last seven or eight years, and think it has had a good deal to do with my looking younger than 55 years of age."

"I recommend it to all my patients, and those who have been using it have only praise for its taste and its good effects on the nervous system; like me they have given up tea and coffee altogether."

Postum is a pure food-drink made of wheat and a small proportion of molasses—roasted and skillfully blended. It is absolutely free from the coffee drugs, caffeine and tannin—common causes of heart, stomach, liver, kidney and nerve disturbance.

Some people marvel at the benefits from leaving off coffee and using Postum, but there is nothing marvelous about it—only common sense.

Postum now comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be boiled. 15c and 25c pkgs.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder, requires no boiling. A spoonful stirred in a cup of hot water makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.
